250 years of Hegel: the philosophical master of the Dialectic [1]
Gerald Falke, Neue Internationale 248, July/August 2020 Thu, 27/08/2020 - 12:01

In the classical German history of philosophy, Hegel's work is regarded by some as its crowning achievement and, by others, as a thoroughly incomprehensible way of thinking or a particularly dangerous

Slavoj Žižek, un idealista Caballo de Troya [2]
Simon Hardy Tue, 10/05/2011 - 18:44

El filósofo Slavoj Žižek es un fenómeno global de la izquierda, Simon Hardy examina algunas de sus ideas

En los últimos quince años el filósofo esloveno Slavoj Žižek ha alcanzado la prominencia en toda Europa y más allá de sus fronteras, como uno de los principales intelectuales de izquierda actualmente vivos. Como escritor prolífico ha producido una montaña de libros, muchos de ellos disfrutados por su estilo enérgico, su ingenio y su tan pregonada capacidad para pasar de un análisis de Ópera Clásica al Capital y luego a las películas de Alfred Hitchcock en unas pocas páginas. Can Marxist theory and class struggle avert environmental catastrophe? [3]

Must human progress lead to environmental degradation? The writings of classical Marxism have often been accused of identifying progress with the ceaseless march of industry and production, regardless of its environmental consequences. As Luke Cooper shows, this common misconception could not be more wrong. Marxism not only explains the causes of the current ecological crisis, but also shows how working class struggle can overcome it. A harmonious relation with our natural environment and the development we need to fight global poverty is perfectly possible and necessary. But it means overthrowing global capitalism Read more... The postmodernist sickness in the anticapitalist movement [4]
Fri, 15/06/2007 - 17:00
Probably the most sophisticated expression of the postmodern theory that has been used to support the idea that the World Social Forum should not organise struggles and should remain merely a space is that of Boaventura de Sousa Santos, Professor of Sociology at the School of Economics, University of Coimbra in Portugal. Marxism versus postmodernism [6]
Thu, 30/01/1997 - 11:59

Postmodernism is not yet the dominant form of bourgeois thought. But it is, increasingly, the predominant form of critical academic thought. A Marxist critique of postmodernism has to challenge its intellectual core and uncover its material roots. The aims of this article are: to summarise the theory which underpins postmodernism; to offer a Marxist critique of that theory; and to explain the material roots of its plausibility.\n
The last few years have been marked by an inverted millenarianism in which premonitions of the future, catastrophic or redemptive, have been replaced by the end of this or that (the end of ideology, art or social class, the ?crisis? of Leninism, social democracy or the welfare state etc. etc.); taken together, all of these perhaps constitute what is increasingly called postmodernism.?(Frederick Jameson)1 Read more...
